

Ha Noi Architectural University

Program name: Architecture

Education level: University (architect)

Type of training: Regular concentration

1. TRAINING OBJECTIVES

1.1. General objectives:

The objective of the program is to train qualified human resources in the field of architectural design. This is a workforce with political, moral and conscious qualities to serve the community; capable of self-study, communication skills and teamwork; have strong knowledge and professional capacity;

The training program of Architecture for construction works to equip people with basic background knowledge and deep professional knowledge, skills in professional practice of construction architecture and high adaptability to the change, have the right attitude and ethics, be able to work independently, creatively and have the ability to detect and solve specialized problems.

After completing the program, learners have basic qualifications, updating new and modern knowledge in practice; have sufficient capacity and skills to solve problems in architectural survey, design and construction; able to work independently or in groups and have the ability to continue studying and studying higher.

1.2. Detail goal

a. About quality

Equipping students with good political and moral awareness, a sense of responsibility for work and community; have a spirit of enthusiasm, dedication to work, initiative and creativity to overcome all difficulties and challenges. Especially the sense of sustainable development of the profession, training and perfecting the sense of discipline and working style of industry and modernity.

b. About knowledge

- The faculty of the parts of the architecture have developed a structured and intensive training program, which emphasizes theory, history, technology, presentation methods, and structure.
- Ten architectural design projects are scientifically arranged during the ten semesters, and these projects are frequently changed to suit the reality.
- Training professional staff to meet the needs of construction architecture field.
- Students learn methods to convey ideas through model facilities and drawings.
- The program is studied based on the balance of a professional theory education with practical skills.
- Have enough basic and advanced knowledge to continue studying and studying to graduate and PhD levels.

Ha Noi Architectural University

c. About skills

- Proficiently use means from hand-drawing to current advanced digital media. In the first 3 years all students are equipped with a solid knowledge base to develop design thinking in the last 2 years
- Design consultant: Ability to synthesize and analyze information from investors to provide a design plan that is suitable to the proposed needs.
- Supervision: With practical knowledge acquired from professional lecturers, students will be able to participate in monitoring and directing construction directly at the construction site.
- Working independently or in groups: By studying through the project, students have enough skills to collaborate with specialized subjects after graduation

d. Regarding attitudes and behaviors:

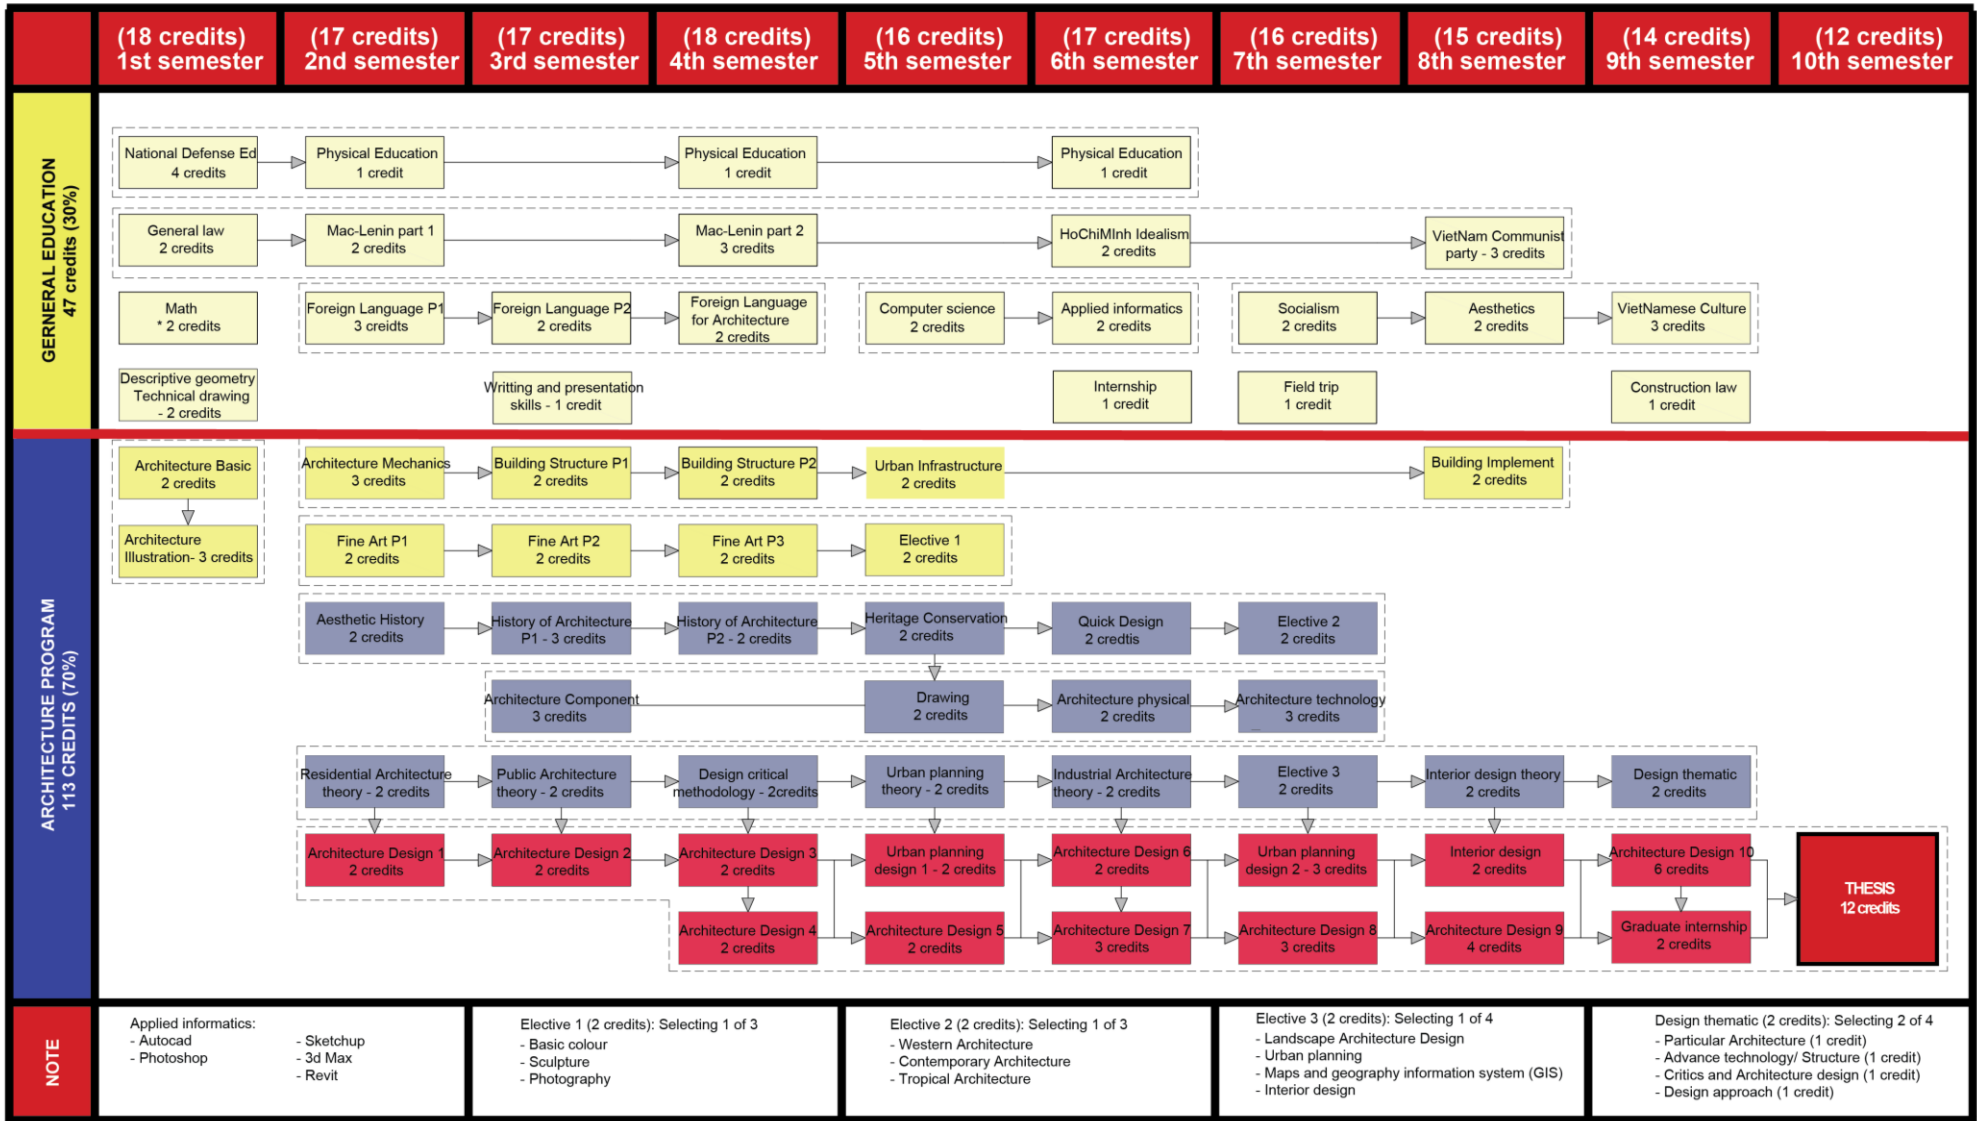

- Being responsible for citizenship, observing the State's laws
- Having personal morality and proper professional ethics, with a professional conscience
- Having a sense of discipline, compliance with laws and industrial behavior, dynamics and bravery in work.
- Having a serious, honest, objective and responsible working spirit, responsible for solving construction design science issues.
- There is a sense of consciousness striving to improve qualifications, lifelong learning, advancing, cooperating with colleagues, sharing experiences.
- There are methods of scientific work, know how to analyze and solve professional problems arising in practical work, summarizing experience to form thinking skills and reasoning.

e. Output standard:

- The Department of Architecture offers a five-year professional program leading to a degree in architecture (B.Arch.), One of the leading programs in the country. - Through practical experience and learned theories, students may be eligible to take a practice certificate right after 2 years from graduation.

f. Career opportunities:

- Lecturers are experts in architecture with current views on architectural practice. With 80 professionals practicing and having extensive relationships in Vietnam's building architecture community, students will be connected to succeed in their field. -
- With more than 100 partner companies associated with the Faculty, students have many job opportunities during their study time and after graduation. - Practical experiences are integrated with the curriculum to help students with high competitiveness in the market. - 90% of architecture graduates work in the design field after graduation.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM

160 CREDITS
5 YEARS
10 SEMESTERS